

THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 2013
7:00PM AT BROOKSIDE CRC

CHAP CLARK

ASSOCIATE PROVOST AND PROFESSOR AT FULLER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY, SENIOR EDITOR OF YOUTHWORKER JOURNAL, AND PRESIDENT OF PARENTEEN™ AND HURT SEMINARS

Chap Clark will share with us his insights about life-long faith development, family faith practices and ways to mentor and invest in the lives of teens that we care about. His presentation will center around:

- The current spiritual trends of 11 to 28 year-olds* as uncovered by extensive research by the Fuller Youth Institute.
- The steps that parents, youth workers, and churches can take to equip students with a deep and dynamic faith that lasts a lifetime.

West Michigan parents, youth workers and other adults who love and care for adolescents—this event is for you! *Did you know that the term “adolescence” now refers to an age range from 11 to 28? So this will be valuable information for anyone who cares for kids in upper elementary school all the way up to young adults in their mid to late 20’s!

Chap will be speaking at Calvin College’s January Series and Worship Symposium on January 23 and 24. Brookside Christian Reformed Church is delighted to open its doors on the evening of January 24 as Chap gives us a glimpse into the lives of adolescents and shares ways that we can engage them to make a difference in how they connect to Christ and his church for a lifetime.

Tickets are $5 per person at the door. For more information, contact Brian Bierenga (452-3191, ext. 14 or bbierenga@brooksidecrc.org)
