

A present for Getting to Know Each Other

Instructions: Prepare a nicely wrapped gift. The gift is handed around to the person each stanza describes. The last person keeps the gift!

Everyone is eligible, this package you may hold,
But soon it may leave and you will be left in the cold.

Look around you if you please,
And give it to the one who has the most keys.

To surrender this package will do no harm,
So give to the one who's lived on a farm.

To find antiques some will go very far,
Let's honor the owner of the oldest car.

It surely is a crying shame,
This package goes to whom the farthest came.

Be careful not to let the package fall
But give it to the one most opposite of tall.

One may wear gold or brass or tin,
Find the wearer of the largest pin (or earrings).

With the package in your hand, you look very sweet,
But it goes to the one with the biggest feet.

It would be nice—it would be great
To see whose birthday is closest to this date.

That you are grabby let it not be said,
Present to the one who wears the most red.

Wonder if you want to, wonder if you can,
Find the driver of the newest van.

Let's find the grandparent who can boast
Of children's children, who has the most?

Whether the clothes one's wearing be old or new,
Give to the one wearing the most blue.

It just seems fitting---it really seems right
We end with the one who went to bed latest last night.
